

The London Metropolitan Network (LMN) Ltd announces a Public Sector event on 3rd
March 2006

“Connectivity across the Public Sector”

LMN is one of the public sector’s best kept secrets, find out how this mode of connection to the internet can lower your costs, and increase your service levels...

LMN Ltd is a not-for-profit organisation - financed by government - to operate a high-speed, high-capacity, highly resilient network connecting around 1 million users in the Greater London area to the Internet and to added value services...

LMN is inviting you to this event because your organisation may be entitled to connect to the LMN network. This would allow you to take advantage of the fastest public sector Internet service in the country and potentially gain access to a range of low cost added value services including:

- access to London’s high capacity Academic and Public Sector networks
- managed or hosted services include email, document sharing, 24x7 monitoring, and web hosting
- unique public sector discounted rates and innovative contract terms
- tap into a pool of technology expertise via the membership of the LMN community

LMN has moved decisively to create collaboration by:

- Actively seeking partnerships with the London e-government and other public sector interest groups to drive initiatives that affect London’s economy.
- Positioning itself as a powerful and representative body that can negotiate with and influence the strategies of major technology suppliers
- Ironing out service level, legal, financial, commercial and other issues that hinder public sector collaboration initiatives.
- Establishing a dedicated educational events staff who actively seek opportunities to stage technology knowledge transfer and best practice events for the public sector
- Encouraging collaboration, networking and socializing through activities such as members-only networking events and staff development workshops.

Why should you attend?

- Discover if you qualify to join this exciting new force for collaboration in the public sector
- See if you can lower cost, and risk while raising service levels for your web based services
- Discover how your organisations can benefit from opportunities available to members of LMN, by networking with experts at the leading edge from the London academic community and other public sector institutions.

Who should attend?

CIO’s, IS / IT Directors, Network Managers, E-learning Directors, anyone who buys technology services, anyone who is interested in outsourcing but with lower risk

Location & Registration:

RIBA, Central London, from 10 am to 12 pm followed by an opportunity to network while enjoying a hot buffet, beer, wine and soft drinks. Places for this event are limited, so please register in advance by e-mailing Dave Puplett at cpd25@westminster.ac.uk.
